

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS

DOMESTIC OPERATIONS DIVISION AND STATION

1. MISSION

The mission of the Domestic Operations Division and Station (DODS) is to exercise centralized responsibility for the direction, support and coordination of clandestine operational activities of the Clandestine Services conducted within the United States against foreign targets in response to established operational requirements.

Note: Nothing in this instruction shall be construed to vest in DODS responsibility for the conduct of clandestine internal security or counterintelligence operations in the United States, former IO activities now assigned to SA Staff, or other categories of special activities designated by the Deputy Director (Plans) from time to time.

2. ORGANIZATION

Although DODS combines the aspects of both a division and a station, primary emphasis is placed on its station functions and the essential relationship of DODS to divisions and staffs parallels that of a foreign field station. The future status of DODS and its functions will be reviewed periodically.
